—The largest city of the world is London, lying in four counties and having a population of 4,250,000, equaling the combined populations of Paris, Berlin, Saint Petersburg and Rome. To walk through all the streets, avenues, lanes and alleys of the city, never traversing the same one twice, would require a ten-mile walk every day for nine years. The streets, placed in a row, would reach round the world, and leave a remnant that would stretch from London to San Francisco.—April Ladies' Home Journal

—A good local newspaper beats the world as an advertising medium. A hand bill attracts attention by accident. The newspaper carries your message to a waiting audience. The fence rail ad is a corpse that can only be looked upon by a few neighbors that have to go near it. The newspaper advertisement goes into the home, takes a seat in the family circle and talks right to hundreds of people who pay their money for the paper. They love the family newspaper and read it with confidence. Nothing equals a good live local newspaper when it comes to reaching the people.—Columbus Junction Safeguard.

—Notwithstanding the duty on woolen goods we make the prices on our new spring line of ready made clothing lower than ever before and are saving clothing buyers actually from 50 cents to $2.00 on a suit. At Gaass.

—Ursus, the prize poem in the April Midland Monthly (Des Moines), by Beatrice Harlow, of Milwaukee, vividly pictures the arena scene in Quo Vadis. Another prize contribution to that number is a beautiful illustrated paper entitled "Israel and the Dutch Painters," by Mary A. Kirkpatrik, of Fort Dodge, recently returned from her art studies abroad. The fiction department leads off with a thrilling wolf story by that prince of adventure story tellers, Frank W. Calkins. The number is further enriched by latest portraits of the wives of several new senators, also a fine picture of the wife of Speaker Reed. All the features of this number are admirably well sustained.
