60 FEET TO DEATH

Steeplejack Miller Loses Hold on Building, and His Injuries Prove Fatal

Crowds Around Town Terminate at Hamburger's

Within sight of hundreds of pedestrians, who gazed in wonder while he was scaling the eastern outside wall of the Hamburger building, at Eighth street and Broadway, yesterday afterfooting on one of the crevices and of cash fell from the fourth floor to the side-walk, a distance of about sixty feet. He sustained injuries that caused death in the county hospital last nig He had been refused permission to climb the building.

Miller was picked up unconscious by several persons, who had been watch ing him in his dizzy feat, and taken to receiving hospital in the police ambulance. Later he was removed to the county hospital.

Shortly before he ascended the Ham-burger building Miller climbed up the of the H. W. Hellman building Fourth and Spring streets, in the presence of hundreds of spectators. After reaching the top of the building climbed the slender flag pole, a distance of about forty feet, while those watching him looked on in awe.

During the past few weeks Miller had scaled several of the tall buildings of the city, working his way to the top by the gripping power of his fingers and using every crevice to aid him in

EDDIE SAYS FREDERICKS MAN TO BE CRITICISED

Replies to Charges Involving Non-Enforcement of Strike Law

In reply to a criticism directed against him for failure to enforce the law in the local strike situation, Prosecuting Attorney Guy Eddie declares the duty in this respect is the district attorney's and not his own. Mr. Eddie has sent the following letter to the Times, which censured him

I beg to call your attention to an editorial attack you made on me in your issue of June 18, wherein you charge me with standing against the enforcement of the law in the present strike situation. For your better information permit me to inform you that your attack should have been directed against the district attorney's office rather than the city prosecutor's office. Some months ago, while Mr. Thomas Woolwine occupied the position which I do now, that of city prosecutor, Mr. J. D. Fredericks, the present incumbent in the district attorney's office in this county, and under the thorough approbation of your paper, withdrew from the city prosecutor's office the authority of prosecuting disturbances of the peace, riots and all crimes of vio-lence, as well as all other offenses under the state law, which the district attorney's office had formerly allowed the city prosecuting office to handle. As a result of this the only cases my office has the power to prosecute are ones arising un-der the city ordinances. The cases which you mention do not come un-der the ordinances. Now, according to your attack, I am not fulling my duty in matters of disturbance of the peace and conspira-cies against the welfare of the city. I could not perform any duty there if I wanted to, and all because of the aforesaid withdrawal of authority by the district attorney from this office. Therefore, instead of directing your railings against me you had better proceed against the proper party, to wit, the district

IMPORTANT! No candidate in The Herald's $25,000 voting contest should forget that, among other things, the conditions of the contest say, "A new subscriber secured as a result of the contest may re-subscribe as many times as desired in order to vote." "A new subscriber remains new subscriber throughout the contest." This is made plain at this time so candidates can get those people who subscribed for a month or so in the start to re-subscribe for a longer time now. All readers who took short-time subscriptions through candidates should get into communication with their favorites at once and add as many months to their time as possible. Every candidate is eager to get all the votes possible now, and all friends of candidates should be just as eager to assist. Every dollar in new subscription paynents now calls for 165 regular votes, and when subscriptions are turned in in clubs of ten at one and the same time a candidate is given 400 extra votes on every dollar in the club amount. Now, Mr. Candidate, get busy and see all those friends who helped you just a little at the start. They will be glad to help you a lot now.

It has been decided to close The Herald's mammoth voting contest sharply at 5 o'clock Thursday eyening, of all candidates and to make it possible to secure the services of prominent bankers as judges of the final contest. Additional details regarding the close of this contest are given further on in this writeup. It was at first proposed to close later in the night, but this would necessitate a candidate meeting numerous inconveniences. The change will meet with universal approbation.

FINISH DRAWS NEAR

All eyes are now turned toward the finish of a race that has proved exciting and of the greatest interest throughout. Southern California's best and biggest people have participated in the competition, which, keen as it has been, has at all times been clean and friendly.

The real race it now on. The home stretch is being entered and the finish is just a short distance ahead. To carry out the simile, "Determination" is the name of the winner, and it is now up to each and every candidate to keep some dark horse from nosing them out within a few feet of the wire.

A sharp pencil and a minuted time will show you how to make your finish No. 1, June 30. Ten days only remain, and then—the winners. As the contest man has been pointing out daily in The Herald, all leads for all prizes are small, and practically none of the grand prize leads have shown the advances during the past few weeks that should have been made considering the magnificence and im-mense value of the prizes which they will bring. Startling as it may be, it is a fact that six of the eight totals which lead for grand prizes have been stationary for a month, and in some instances even longer. The mystery of this condition becomes apparent when it is known that not one of the grand prize leads is in proportion to the value of the prize for which it leads. The list of prizes to be distributed June 30 includes a $5300 home, a $3380 Knox Tourabout, a double trip through the Orient ($787.50), a $750 Lindeman Grand Piano—four capital

The Public Believes in Hamburger's

-it has perfect confidence in the integrity of those who dominate The Big White Store. We value this good opinion, spare no effort to deserve and retain it. Price cutting is the order of the day; "Savings" seems to be in the very air. To make room for our tremendous stocks of incoming Fall merchandise we must get rid of the goods now on hand. It is true that some of them have only lately arrived—that all are the best obtainable, most desirable, but we must have the room. Price cutting will enable us to do this-hence we cut prices deeply !-drastically !-and will continue cutting from now until September. Every time we announce a cut, it is a cut. Honesty is not only the best policy, but the resulting lost confidence from an untrue statement can never be regained. The statements of a department store must be worth their face value-or they are worth less than nothing! Hamburger advertisers prefer to understate rather than exaggerate.
